

Behavior Specialist Services

Gilda Panales, M.S., BCBA/OBM, Board-Certified Behavior Analyst

Parent Consultations

We offer support and guidance for parents seeking assistance with their children's behaviors both at home and in school. Additionally, we provide support for parents who need help navigating the world of special education, especially for those with children dealing with ADHD, anxiety, autism, and learning disabilities.

1

BEHAVIOR CONSULTATION

Behavior consultations provide families with valuable behavioral strategies to reduce challenging behaviors at home, school, and in the community.

We also help parents understand how behaviors are learned, and how these behaviors are influenced (and maintained) by the child's family and caregivers. This helps parents adjust their behaviors to meet their child's needs.

2

EDUCATION AND ADVOCACY

Parent education and advocacy helps parents comprehend their child's diagnosis and formulate a plan. We also connect parents with resources, support, and behavior services.

We assess and review IEP documents and evaluations to ensure the recommended school services align with your child's specific needs so parents can effectively advocate for their child.

Parent Consultation

This is the process for obtaining parent consultations:

